Any such solicitation may be provided only through the definitive offering documentation and materials that are available on the investor portal (the “Portal”) maintained by ID Fund and its affiliates for such purpose. Investors should carefully review all the definitive offering documents and materials on the Portal, including the summary of investment risks, before making a decision to invest. Investing in securities involves risks, including the risk of losing the principal. Investment performance or any investment results can never be guaranteed. Investing in private non-public securities is speculative and requires the investor to have a high level of risk tolerance which should be carefully considered by the investor prior to making any investment decisions. Moreover, private securities are highly illiquid. Investors who are not prepared to hold their interest for a long term (at least 3-5 years) should not invest. Please note that prospective investors are required to establish an account on the Portal prior to having access to these offering documents and materials. Establishing an account on the Portal includes providing certain self-attestations, an identity verification (click here to learn more), and executing a Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA).
